P R E F A C E.

READERS of County Histories must be aware that the County Historian, as a rule, has neither time nor space to devote to what may be termed the more minute details of the domestic life and customs of each Parish in his County. He cannot, for instance, be expected to transcribe the Parish Register, or the accounts of Churchwardens; and yet these documents contain information which must be extremely interesting to all residents, and without which no Parochial History can be said to have been thoroughly and completely written.

Impressed with this idea, I have often wished, if it were possible, to add some little link in the chain of the history of my native town. An opportunity occurred a few years ago, when Mr. Speechly (one of the present Churchwardens) undertook the rearrangement of the Parish Papers. I had the pleasure of helping him in the work, and I found the papers contained so much interesting matter, that I determined, if possible, to publish a transcript of them, my only regret being that the work had not fallen into abler hands.

In the following pages I have endeavoured to put before the reader, without any unnecessary comment of my own, a transcript of all the interesting portions of the papers, in such a form as to enable him to realise for himself the details of the quaint life and curious customs which have surrounded the Church and its neighbourhood during the last 400 years. The Parish Register is not included, because I consider that extracts only are worse than useless, and a verbatim copy would be quite beyond the scope of a work like this.

No apology, I think, is needed for the introduction of the Monumental Inscriptions. Though they do not, strictly speaking, come under the head of Parish Papers, they certainly form an important part of the records of St. Michael's.

I would here call the attention of readers to this fact, that there is a large amount of information interesting alike to inhabitants of the parish, and to antiquaries generally, contained in the title deeds and writings of property; and I feel sure that the information to be obtained from them would amply repay any little trouble or inconvenience that a search might occasion. It will be noticed, for example, that in the transcript of receipts and rentals, several houses and streets are mentioned, the names of which have long since disappeared and been forgotten; these are doubtless mentioned in most cases in the writings, and the old names might by this means be identified with the existing houses or sites. I shall be very grateful for any information which may reach me from such reliable sources.

I take this opportunity of thanking the Vicar and the Churchwardens for their courtesy, and the facilities they have afforded me for the inspection of their papers; and also those ladies and gentlemen who by their subscriptions have helped me to carry out my work. As the work of leisure hours in winter evenings, I now modestly put this little book before my readers, trusting that they will not find its perusal altogether uninteresting, and that it may awaken a keener interest in the antiquities of our town.

BISHOP'S STORTFORD,

December, 1881.

*CATALOGUE AND DESCRIPTION OF THE VARIOUS PAPERS AT PRESENT (1881) IN
THE CUSTODY OF THE VICAR AND CHURCH-
WARDENS OF ST. MICHAEL'S AND THE OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.*

The papers comprised in the following catalogue were, when I first saw them in 1877, tied up in small parcels and packed away in a chest in the vestry. In this condition they were practically useless, as any reference to them would have entailed great labour and loss of time.

The idea of cleaning and examining the papers having been suggested, Mr. Speechly, one of the present churchwardens, undertook the by no means easy task, and has now succeeded in arranging the whole of the parish papers in books in chronological order. I may mention here that the late Dr. Starling evidently had a somewhat similar idea in view, but his death prevented him making any progress in the work. I am indebted to his son, Dr. John Starling, of Kensington, for a perusal of his father's memoranda relating to the Churchwardens' Accounts.

The following is a complete list of the books and papers :—

Book No. 1 contains :

Churchwardens' Accounts from 1431 to 1440.

 " " " 1482 to 1582 (about 15 years missing).

Six rentals or portions of rentals :

- (1) Date lost, but probably temp. Edw. IV. or Rich. III.
- (2) " " " " late Hen. VII. or early Hen.
 VIII.
- (3) 21st of Hen. VIII.
- (4) 31st of Hen. VIII.
- (5) 38th of Hen. VIII. or 1st Edw. VI.
- (6) 6th of Edward VI.

Two papers very much torn, no date, endorsed on the back "relating to the Chantry."

Nine papers of inventories and memoranda relating to the sale of the Church Goods.

BOOK No. 2 contains :

- Churchwardens' Accounts from 1583 to 1661 (18 years missing).
- " " " 1680 to 1700 (7 " ")
- " " for the years 1701-3-4-6-9-10-12-13-14-15-16-17-18-20-21-42-43-85.
- Six Rentals, dates 1600-2-5-70-76 and 1721.

BOOK No. 3 contains :

The Apprenticeship Orders and Indentures from 1693 to 1790.

BOOK No. 4 contains

The Original Vouchers or Bills which are referred to in the Accounts from 1663 to 1799. As a whole these are not worth transcribing, but they contain a few items which are interesting as examples of the rate of wages and the price of materials in various trades. The following are the charges of a master bricklayer in 1685 :

- for "a trouellman" 1s. 8d. per day.
- " "a laborer" 1s. 2d. "
- " "31 bus. lime" 18s. 1d.
- " "8 bus. hare" 5s. 4d.

In the same year a Glazier charged for :

- "39 squares of glazing at 2d. y^e square."
- "4 great squares 1s. 2d. y^e square."
- "new leading 2d. per foot."

The following papers are arranged in parcels, and are endorsed on the covers :

- The Overseers' Accounts from 1692 to 1749 20 papers.
- The Accounts of the Collectors for the Poor 9 "
- Memoranda and letters relating to the Inquisition of 1692 about the Charities.

Under this head are preserved 43 papers consisting of minutes and memoranda; they contain no very interesting matter. In addition to these there are 14 letters from and to Dr. Yardley, Mr. Altham, etc., all relating to the same subject 57 "

Miscellaneous Papers 32 "

Total 118

A small parcel containing particulars of the Rents belonging to the Church and Poor of Stortford from 1782 to 1794.

In addition to the above-mentioned papers there are the following books :

(1) A vellum bound book endorsed on the cover : " In this Booke is the decree of the High Court of Chancery concerning the Charities of the Church and Poor of B^p Stortford." From a letter pasted inside the cover it appears that this book was sent to the late vicar (Rev. F. W. Rhodes) in 1872 by a gentleman into whose hands it had come through an executorship, and who very properly considered that it ought to be again placed in the parish chest.

The contents of the book are as follows :

A discharge for Mr. Polhill's legacy of £50.

A Copy of the Will of the Rev^d. W^m. Polhill.

A Receipt from the Churchwardens and Overseers to Edward Denny and Cordelia his wife acknowledging the receipt of £20, the legacy of Rowland Hill ; this is signed by William Bayford and William Barnes, Churchwardens,
John Jennens and William Ely, Overseers.

A surrender by Rowland Hill of two half acres of land at Easton (C^o Huntingdon) to the Lord of the Manor of Spaldwick, dated 1671.

The Decree of the Commissioners concerning the Charities, 1692.

Minutes of a meeting of the Charity Trustees, 1693.

An additional order of the High Court of Chancery concerning the Charities, 1716.

An Inventory of Church Goods, 1537.

" " " " 1548.

NOTE.—These are copies of two of the Inventories in Book No. 1.

Inside the cover of this book a MSS. is placed entitled " An Ode to Science, recited by a chorus of Youths at Bishop Stortford School feast, August 13, 1754."

(2) 'The Churchwardens' minute book from 1712 to 1858.

(3) Another minute book from 1858 (in use in 1881).

The whole of the above-mentioned books and papers are kept in the vestry of St. Michael's Church.

The Assistant Overseer, Mr. Thomas Coote, has under his charge at his office :

(1) A large book bound in calf with a clasp, called " A Booke of the accomte of the Churchwardens, Overseers, and the Officers of the P[']ishe of Stortford," date from 1656 to 1772.

(2) The Overseers' Book from 1772 (in use 1881).

In a room in the Corn Exchange are the Rate Books and Overseers' accounts for the last eighty or ninety years, and some interesting old account books relating to the management of the old workhouse previous to the passing of the present Poor Law. These, however, must be considered inaccessible for reference in their present state. At the annual vestry meeting, March 25, 1881, it was "resolved that the Assistant Overseer should be empowered to remove all books belonging to the Parish from the Corn Exchange, and take charge of them at his own residence."

THE ACCOUNTS OF THE CHURCHWARDENS.

No accounts previous to 1431 have been preserved, and of the 354 years over which the accounts extend, no less than 151 are missing. This is much to be regretted, as some of the missing years would in all probability have contained especially interesting items.

As a rule, the papers are dated according to the Regnal years, but for uniformity I have adopted the A.D. dating throughout.

The year over which the account extended was reckoned previous to 1504 from Michaelmas to Michaelmas; and from 1504 to 1611, from Palm Sunday to Palm Sunday; since the year 1611 the reckoning has been from Easter Monday to Easter Monday.

The writing of the accounts in most cases appears to have been the work of a Scribe, and is consequently good; a few years are indifferently written, and about three or four are very badly done.

The accounts for the following 17 years, viz, from 1431 to 1440, 1489, 1490, 1495, 1496, 1499, 1500, 1501, 1502, are written in Latin. As a fair specimen of the whole I give verbatim the parchment roll containing the accounts from 1431 to 1440 and in making this transcript I have extended the abbreviations of the Latin which occur in the original. The items in the remaining 8 years are very similar to those transcribed from the roll; I therefore thought it sufficient for the purpose to give the translation of the more interesting.

In making the extracts from the English accounts, while trying to avoid a needless repetition, I have endeavoured not to omit anything relating to the Service, Ornaments, Goods or Fabric of the Church, nor any item containing allusions to old customs, names of streets, houses or persons. I have throughout preserved the spelling of the original as far as possible, only deviating from it in cases where the abbreviations in the original might render the word obscure or unintelligible; in such cases I have supplied the missing letter or letters.

At first I thought of contenting myself with simply exhibiting the testimony of the records themselves, but it afterwards occurred to me that a few notes might possibly make them more interesting to the general reader.

THE MINUTE BOOK NOW USED BY THE CHURCHWARDENS OF ST. MICHAEL'S COMMENCES IN 1712, AND THE FOLLOWING ARE A FEW EXTRACTS FROM IT.

At a Court Leet and Barron held at the Crown at Hockrell y^e 15th day of April 1713
Jonathan Carter Junr. } were elected Constables for the year
Rob^t Lumkin } ensueing.

1830.

NOTE.—This year for the first time the Head-Borough, Ale Tasters, Fish and Flesh Tasters, and Cattle Drivers, were appointed by the Vestry. These Officers of the Parish were originally appointed by the Court Leet. Their appointment being considered of no practical use in modern times, they ceased to exist in 1872.

1836.

This year at a Public meeting it was unanimously resolved to appoint a paid Surveyor.

It was proposed, by Mr. Frederic Chaplin and sec^d by Mr. Jo^s Fairman that Mr. Weeks be nominated and appointed Surveyor of the Highways at a salary of £40 os. 0d. per an.—car^d unan^y.

This year the Vicar (Rev^d. Charles Spencer) relinquished his right of appointing one of the Churchwardens.

1837.

Five Persons being nominated this year for the Office of Churchwarden, a poll was demanded. The polling occupied two days, from 9 until 4, and at the close the numbers were :

1847.

This year a public meeting was called to consider the state of the Charities.

NOTES TO THE CHURCHWARDENS' ACCOUNTS.

Peter Pence was an ancient levy or tax of a penny on each house (provided there were thirty pence belonging to it) throughout England, paid to the Pope. It was called Peter-pence, because collected on the day of St. Peter ad vincula. Edward III. first forbade the payment; but it soon returned, and continued till the time of King Henry VIII. It was abolished under that Prince, and restored under Philip and Mary, but finally prohibited under Queen Elizabeth. [Chambers's "Cyclopædia," 1741.]

1495.

[Page 22, line 15]. Sir H. Chauncy ["Hist. Herts"] has transcribed this item thus: "Lib. vocat. the Crowcher jacen. ante crucem (quære annon potius the Crowcher nam Crowch est Crosse)."

1496.

1500.

(1) See note (1) 1505.

1502.

(1) Every church was anciently provided with one or more banners to bear in the processions on Rogations and other holy days. A processional banner had usually the patron saint of the particular church where it was used painted or wrought upon it. [Staunton's "Ecclesiastical Dictionary"]. See also the items in the accounts for 1520 and 1525.

1482.

(1) In 1476 one Elizabeth Spycere gave 13s. 4d. at Waites Cross to repair the church.

(2) It was at this time customary on Good Friday to erect in the chancel a small building to represent the Holy Sepulchre. In this was placed the Host, and a person was set to watch it both that night and the next, then very early on the following morning (Easter Sunday) the Host was taken out, thus representing the burial and resurrection of our Lord.

I find from this and subsequent items in these accounts that the sepulchre here mentioned was of wood, so framed that it could be easily erected in the church and taken down again. There are a few instances of permanent sepulchres being formed in the chancel wall; one of these may be seen in the church of Sandon, Herts.

(3) "in grete" = altogether, in one sum, signifying that the work was done for a previously agreed upon price.

(4) "Nares in his Glossary, p. 103, says this festival was held annually on the Thursday after Trinity Sunday, in memory, as was supposed, of the miraculous confirmation of the doctrine of Transubstantiation under Pope Urban IV. Its origin, however, is involved in great obscurity." [Brand's "Pop. Antiq.,"]

This festival appears to have been thoroughly observed at St. Michael's; there was a religious procession and a pageant, and then the Mystery or Miracle Play. The principal feature of the procession was the Pyx containing the consecrated bread: this was carried through the church and the adjacent streets; other figures followed, representing favourite saints, e.g., St. George killing the dragon.

(For further information regarding Corpus Christi day, read Googe's translation of Naogeorgus, f. 53, "Then doth ensue," etc. Brand's "Pop. Antiq.," i. 295.)

(1) Previous to the Reformation most parishes possessed a "Church House," or "Parish House," as it is also sometimes called. The Church House may at times have been used for the transaction of the secular affairs of the parish, but its name is more intimately associated with the then popular periodical games and festivities. These festive gatherings were known by the name of "Ales;" there were "Church Ales," "Clerk's Ales," "Whitsun Ales," "Hocking Ales," etc. The following extract relating to the "Church House" is taken from some papers drawn up by John Aubrey, an English gentleman-scholar, who flourished in the latter half of the 17th century. "Before the Reformation there were no poor rates; the charitable doles given at Religious Houses and the Church Ale in every parish did the business. In every parish there was a Church House, to which belonged spits, pots, crocks, etc., for dressing provisions. Here the housekeepers met and were merry, and gave their charity. The young people came there too, and had dancing, bowling, and shooting at the butts. Mr. Antony Wood assures me there were few or no Alms houses before the time of King Henry VIII.; that at Oxford opposite Christ Church is one of the most ancient in England. In every church was a poor man's box, and the like at great inns." [This extract is quoted in Chambers's "Book of Days," ii. 440.]

(2) Hocktide began on the Monday following the second Sunday after Easter. Monday was the men's day and Tuesday the women's. (For an account of the festivities of Hocktide read Brand's "Pop. Antiq.," i. 184, Dyer's "British Pop. Customs," p. 188, and Chambers's "Book of Days," i. 498.)

(3) Baldwin or Bawdwyng Victor was the founder of the Chantry of St. John the Baptist here. It would appear from this and subsequent items relating to his obit that he was interred within the church.

(4) "Prickyd songge" = manuscript music. "To prick" = to copy.

1491.

(1) Sir H. Chauncy in his "Antiquities of Hertfordshire" says: "Three Gylds and a Chantry were founded in this church; the Gyld of St. Mary, the Gyld of St. Michael, and the Gyld of St. John the Baptist. These saints had their Altars, and St. Michael his Tabernacle, on which much cost has been bestowed."

I find that St. John also had a tabernacle, and that in 1520 a new tabernacle was made, which might possibly have been for St. Mary.

(2) Jenyns or Jennings. The first mention of this name in these accounts is in 1431, when John Janyn (or Jenyn) was paid 3*d.* for nails for the great chest. From that date down to the present time (1881) members of the family have resided here.

(3) It was at this time customary to light in churches what were called Paschal Tapers. These tapers or candles were generally very large; they were lighted on Easter Eve and continued burning until Ascension.

1503.

(1) This item is followed by items for materials and labour amounting to £4 8s. 2d.

1504.

Previous to this date the year over which these accounts extended was reckoned from Michaelmas to Michaelmas, but in 1504 and the subsequent years until 1611 the reckoning is from Palm Sunday to Palm Sunday.

(1) The orthography and writing of these two accounts (1503 and 1504) are so bad that I had very great difficulty in deciphering them: "brawyng playe" I take to be "Braughing Play." The Churchwardens of Stortford owned a "dragon" [see Inventory], and it would appear from this item that they occasionally let him out.

(1) I have been unable to ascertain the exact meaning of "Luntis Yeld," or "Luntys Gylde" as it is written in 1500. Toulmin Smith, in speaking of Sir H. Chauncy's extracts from the Accounts of the Churchwardens of Stortford, says: "The ale called 'Luntis yield,' which, though I cannot find any trace of in the archæological works treating of these matters, I take to be an 'Ale' held at the time of paying the 'Smoke farthing' or 'wax silver.' Lunt is an old word meaning 'match,' and often used for 'smoke,' and nothing was more consistent with ordinary practice than that as funds for other purposes were raised by means of other regular 'Ales,' so the Smoke-farthing and Wax-silver should in some parishes be gathered at an ale."

(2) It was the custom in the Romish Church to extinguish all the fires on Easter Eve. The "wood and coles" here mentioned were therefore provided on Easter Eve for renewing the fires on Easter Day; when, however, they were kindled again, it was done by pure elemental fire, produced by a flint and steel, and not from unhallowed embers. From this fire the Paschal taper was also lighted. [See also Naageorgus's "Popish Kingdom," by Googe: "On Easter Eve the fire all is quencht in every place," etc.]

(1) Paschal silver I take to be either synonymous with Wex-silver, or Wax-silver, which was a contribution made towards the expense of the candles used in the Roman Catholic Ceremonial, or a collection made on Easter Eve especially for the Paschal taper.

(2) "Funeral tapers, however thought of by some, are of harmless import. Their meaning is to show that the departed soules are not quite put out, but having walked here as the children of light, are now gone to walk before God in the light of the living." ["Gregciii Opuscula," p. 112.]

To have a great many torches was a special mark of esteem in the person who made the funeral to the deceased. The Churchwardens provided the torches and let them out at funerals, charging, as in this item, for the waste of them.

(3) "Bowers" I take to mean booths or covered stalls used on the fair days. It was at this period the custom to hold these fairs on the day of the feast of dedication and in or near to the churchyard.

(4) It would appear from this and other items in these accounts that at this period it was usual to go to London by way of Hoddesdon.

(5) bell^l.

(1) On these days the souls of the departed were had in special remembrance, and some office or obsequies said for them, as obits, dirges, etc.

1510.

(1) This watercourse was in South Street.

(2) See note (1) 1491.

(3) This was for three parishioners engaged to go round the bounds of the parish with the religious procession in Rogation week; they probably had to carry the cross or the banner staves.

1513.

(1) This cross is not mentioned by Sir H. Chauncy.

(2) See note (3) 1482.

(3) Probably a staff or handle for the cross that was carried in the processions.

(4) The flasks or cruets in which was kept the consecrated oil blessed on Holy Thursday.

(5) Candlemas Day. The Purification of the Virgin Mary.

For information regarding the religious observances on this day read Brand's "Pop. Antiq.," i. 43, Chambers's "Book of Days," i. 212.

1514.

(1) I have been unable to ascertain what connection Sir Edward Hayward, Knt. had with the town or church of Stortford. His name is not mentioned by Sir H. Chauncy, Clutterbuck, Morant, or Wright in their County Histories.

(2) i.e. letting three dwelling-houses (see N. and Q., 5th S. xi. 194.)

(3) The amice (so called from amicire, to cover) was a piece of fine linen in the form of an oblong square. When the priest put on the amice, he rested it for a moment upon the crown of his head, and then spread it upon his shoulders.

(4) "Beting" candle was a candle made of rosin and pitch.

(1) Sir H. Chauncy ["Hist. of Herts"] has transcribed this "Mary Ale," but the original is plainly "May Ale."

"May Ale" I take to be another name for the games and revelries of May-day. The good folk of Stortford were probably amused on this day with the frolics of the Morris dancers. [For information regarding May-day read Brand's "Pop. Antiq.," i. 212, Dyer's "British Pop. Customs," and "The Book of Days."

(2) These were the torches used at funerals, and month minds, and for the use or waste of which a payment was made to the Churchwardens.

(3) Robert Savill was the Chantry Priest.

(4) As an instance of the way in which surnames may become corrupted through ignorance or carelessness, I quote the name of Dugarde, which is at first spelt correctly; it then becomes "Dewgard," and finally "Dogood."

"Tawyer" was the mediæval name for "Tanner." The leather was used by the churchwardens for making baldricks for the bells.

1516.

(1) See note (1) 1502.

(2) "strykyng" = moulding or making.

1519.

(1) These bonfires were lighted on Midsummer Eve or on St. John the Baptist's day.

"Then doth the joyfull feast of John the Baptist take his turne,
When bonfiers great with loftie flame in everie towne doe burne."

[Googe's translation of Naogeorgus.]

(2) "obligacon" = an agreement.

(3) Nothing is left to show where this cross formerly stood, but in all probability it was on the south side of the church, and near to the path leading to the south or principal entrance. From an item in the account for 1643 I am inclined to think it was taken down that year. Sir H. Chauncy (1700) does not mention it; there were, therefore, probably no remains of it in his time. Mr. J. E. Cussans, in his "Hist. of Herts," states that during the restoration of the church in 1868 a portion of a cross was found under the floor; this he imagines was a fragment of one of the old town crosses. I have never seen this fragment, but as it was found buried in the church, I think it might possibly be a portion of the old churchyard cross.

(4) See note (2) 1520.

(1) "begger" = collector (?).

(2) "Grate." Possibly this was another name for the cage or lock-up. In the accounts of the churchwardens of Reading I find the following item: "1552. Of the Mayor and burges for the gaol called the grate pr. a^m xij^d."

In N. and Q. 5th S. xi. 194, Mr. John Parkin says: "The 'grate' was a sort of lattice that served instead of a window."

(3) See note (1) 1502.

(4) No mention is made of the dedication of this new tabernacle. See note (1) 1491.

1521.

(1) "Furbisher" was the mediæval term for a maker of swords and scabbards.

(2) "Fox tells us of one Gray, a smith of this town, accused for denying the Sacrament of the Altar to be Christ, was therefore sent for to London, but was there deliver'd by means of the Lord Cromwell." [Chauncy's "Antiq. of Herts," i. 326.]

1523.

(1) There is a similar item in the accounts of Great Dunmow: "Item to make up ye shott at Lysnell Maye xij^d." Mr. Scott in his book says of this item, "This looks as if they had gone to Lindsell, but the inhabitants had not contributed enough to pay their public house score."

See also the item in 1541 relating to Stansted Play.

1525.

(1) Palm Cross. "This name was given to churchyard crosses because they were ornamented with wreaths of palm on Palm Sunday for processions," (Scott's "Dunmow").

(2) This inventory is lost; the earliest one is dated 1537, which is transcribed in full further on.

(1) At this period the organ was, I believe, very much akin to the present bagpipe, and we find the instrument is generally spoken of in the plural as "the organs" or "a payre of organs," but I think I am correct in saying that only one instrument was meant. The earliest mention of "the organs" in Stortford Church is in 1490, when the churchwardens paid a strange priest or clerk 8^d. for playing on them.

1530.

(1) Sir William Say, Kt., was Lord of the Manor of Baas, in the parish of Broxbourne. He was interred in Broxbourne Church, and a handsome monument is erected to him there. (See also 1489.)

1531.

(1) The Leather Market was that portion of the present Market Square immediately in front of the Plume of Feathers Inn and the shop of Mr. Joscelyne. It would appear from this and other items that at this period tanning and the sale of leather formed an important branch of the trade of the town.

(2) In the churchwardens' accounts of St. Mary at Hill, London, I find this item: "1501 for paintynge the crosse staffe for lent iiii*d*."

(1) "Childern" = Choristers.

1535.

(1) The Fish Market, or Fishrow as it was sometimes also called, stood upon that portion of Market Square to the west of the present Corn Exchange.

1538.

"Grene wax." Estreats were delivered to the Sheriffs under the Exchequer seal of "Green Wax," levied in counties; sometimes the churchwardens assisted at the collection. (N. and Q. 5th S. xi. 194.)

1539.

(1) This item refers to the perambulation or beating of the bounds of the parish in Rogation week. [See Brand's "Pop. Antiq.," i. 202.]

1540.

(1) This Item probably relates to the dissolution of the Guild of the Virgin Mary.

(2) Rent Resolute was a rent anciently paid to the Crown from the lands of religious houses.

(3) Possibly this was a quit rent paid by the churchwardens to the bailiff of the Bishop of London.

1542.

(1) This Bible was probably purchased in order to comply with the King's proclamation of May, 1540. The dates relative to the use of the Bible in the English Church are as follows:

1536. Cromwell orders every parson to cause a Bible in Latin and English to be set up in the choir for the perusal of the people.

1538. Cromwell orders a Bible of the largest volume to be set up in every church in some place convenient for reading.

1540. A King's proclamation orders a Bible of the largest volume to be provided by the curate and parishioners under a penalty of 40s. per month.

1541. A brief published directing the same.

1543. The Bible was again suppressed (Strype's "Cranmer," i. 121).

1547. Edward's injunctions directed that the whole Bible in English of the largest volume should be set up in every church.

1559. Elizabeth issued the same injunction.

(2) The "care cloth" was a kind of pall or canopy held over the heads of the bride and bridegroom during the marriage ceremony (see Brand's "Pop. Antiq.," ii. 141).

(3) See note (2) 1520.

1545.

(1) Chapel—see note (1) 1561.

1546.

(1) 6s. 8d. was the fee paid to the churchwardens for an interment within the walls of the church. There is nothing in these accounts indicating that the fees varied according to the position of the grave within the church.

(2) i.e. The feast of the dedication of the church.

"This feast was at first regularly kept on that day in every week on which the church was dedicated; but it being observed and complained of that the number of holidays was excessively increased, to the detriment of civil government and secular affairs, and also that great irregularities and licentiousness, which had crept into these festivities by degrees, especially in the churches, chapels, and churchyards, were found highly injurious to piety, virtue, and good manners; there were therefore both statutes and canons made to regulate and restrain them; and by an act of Convocation passed by Henry VIII., 1536, their number was in some measure lessened. [Brand "Pop. Antiq."]

For a more detailed account of what took place at these wakes or feasts of dedication read Brand, ii. 1—15, and "Book of Days," ii. 404.

In the June number of the Fortnightly Review, 1880, there is a very interesting article on "The Cost of the Mediæval Church in England." Speaking of the festivals of the Church, the writer observes: "It was a chief characteristic of the Church system to abstract in festivals and holidays probably a fourth of the time of the lay people; and what is more, to levy onerous fines in money or goods on all who availed themselves of these spiritual dissipations. But the economic effect of all this expenditure was as nearly as possible waste. It produced no single commodity for sustaining human life; it yielded not one solitary article which could increase the exports, and therefore buy goods from the foreigner. Some alms doubtless were given to the indigent, and propagated 'sturdy rogues and valiant beggars.' In a few instances rudimentary learning was fostered among the few students who redeemed the swarming fraternities of idle and debauched monks from utter uselessness. But the general and prolonged effect on the nation was a hindrance and a calamity exactly analogous to reducing the quantity of daylight by one-half, or adding several months to the reign of winter."

I trust it will not be considered out of place to transcribe here the last paragraph from the article mentioned above, in which the writer sums up the utility of the Mediæval Church in the following words:

"No one has ever pretended that the institution of the Mediæval Church in this and other countries was wholly evil. Unless there had been mitigating circumstances of some kind, society would have broken down by the increasing pressure of a burden chiefly wasteful and pernicious. Among the greatest services rendered by the Church was the assistance it gave to the growth of a middle class. Generally the ecclesiastical landlords were indulgent to their tenants, and in effect shared the profits of their lands with the bailiffs and labourers, the more industrious and intelligent of whom became themselves owners. The plebeian origin of the majority of the monks and regular clergy disposed them to assist, when possible, their lay relatives, and many snug tenancies and profitable leases took their origin in such motives. It was the same circumstance of the plebeian complexion of the church which, during the earlier part of its career especially, did render it a refuge for the studious, the gentle, and the oppressed, and by constantly raising the child of the meanest villein to the dignity of a spiritual prince or peer, put a curb on the savage soldiery of feudalism. To some of the earlier monks also belongs the eminent merit of fostering and advancing those useful arts which lay at the very bottom of all national progress. The Cistercian Abbeys were for nearly two hundred years pioneers and patterns in the reclamation of forests and wildernesses, and for a longer period schools of agriculture and the industrial arts.

"The services rendered by the Mediæval Church in this country to the cause of enlightenment and learning was of a bad and false sort; and no real enlightenment could possibly come out of the arid discussions and distressing puerilities which constituted the only orthodox mental exercises permitted by the Church. The increasing demand for cathedrals, abbeys, hospitals and churches raised to rapid eminence an order of architects among the most original, daring, and successful that has ever flourished. These cultivators of one of the noblest, most difficult, and most useful of all the arts and sciences which advance and adorn a country, will always be counted among the greatest benefactors of Western Europe. By the simple and enduring force of beauty and fitness the principal edifices raised by the mediæval architects, whether clerics or laymen, have become models of their kind for all subsequent ages.

"These are the principal considerations which can be urged in favour of the Mediæval Church. I do not discuss its theology or its traditions. But the considerations of an opposite and evil nature—some of the most important of which have been indicated in the foregoing pages—far outweigh the good."

(3) It would appear that at this time the clock was fixed outside the tower or steeple. The amounts expended hardly warrant the supposition that a new clock and chimes were made this year. I therefore read "makyng" in the sense of "renovating."

1547—1st of Edward VI.

(1) This is the first mention of an alms-house in these accounts.

(2) These items relate to the sale of plate, etc. The amount given by the churchwardens when before the King's Commissioners is £38 16s. 9d.

(3) There were doubtless mural paintings in the church at this time. Mr. Cussans says (1870) that one was discovered a short time ago on the north wall; it represented a winged figure holding in one hand a Tau Cross, all within the monogram IHS, repeated four times and arranged in the form of a lozenge.

(4) The church book here mentioned was probably the first Parish Register, which unfortunately is not extant, and was never copied into the existing Register Book, which dates from 1561.

(5) This, I imagine, was the injunction issued by Edward VI. (1547), and which related amongst other things to the appointment of churchwardens by the parish, the distribution of the fortieth part of the revenues of the benefice among the poor, the devotion of surplus stock to the repairs of the highways, the sending of boys to school or college at the expense of the benefice, etc. [For further particulars of the injunction read "The Parish," by Toulmin Smith, pp. 80, 95, 106, 188, 307, 325, 603.]

(6) In 1547 it was enjoined that "the parson, vicar, or curate and parishioners of every parish within this realm, shall in their churches and chappels keep one book or register, wherein they shall write the day and year of every wedding, christening, and burial made within their parish for their time, and so every man succeeding them likewise; and therein shall write every person's name that shall be so wedded, christened or buried, and for the safe keeping of the same book, the parish shall be bound to provide of their common charges one sure coffer, with two locks and keys, whereof the one to remain with the parson, vicar, or curate, and the other with the wardens of every parish church or chappel, wherein the said book shall be laid up; which book they shall every Sunday take forth, and in the presence of the said wardens, or one of them, write and record in the same all the weddings, christenings, and burials made the whole week before, and that done to lay up the book in the said coffer as afore. And for every time that the same shall be omitted, the party that shall be in fault thereof shall forfeit to the said church 3s. 4d., to be employed to the Poor men's box of that Parish."

(7) The Commissioners for Hertfordshire were Sir John Butler, K^t, Sir John Brockett, K^t, John Pen, Esqr., and Nicholas Bristow, Esqr. Mr. Cussans in his "Church Goods in Hertfordshire" transcribes their certificate in full. The following extracts relating to Stortford are taken from his work:

"Thing℄ don by men dead.

- (1) See note 1561.
- (2) The communion table.

1549.

NOTE.—Both the spelling and writing of this account are very bad, and consequently difficult to decipher.

- (1) Percy was the church clerk.
- (2) See note (7) 1547.
- (3) The King's Book here mentioned was probably the first Book of Common Prayer—the use of which was enjoined by Parliament in the first Act of Uniformity, Jan., 1549—or “A Necessary Doctrine and Erudition for any Christian Man, set forth by the King's Majesty of England, etc., 1543.” This latter was addressed by the King to the people, and is therefore called the King's Book.

1553.

NOTE.—The main point of interest in this account is its evidence of the prompt return to the Roman Catholic form of worship immediately upon the accession of Queen Mary.

- (1) The Holy Water Stoup was a stone basin usually built in the wall at the entrance of the church. The remains of one may still be seen in the south porch of St. Michael's.
- (2) The Ship was a vessel in the shape of a boat in which the incense was stored; when in use the incense was taken out with a spoon and thrown on the censor.
- (3) See note (4) 1514.

1554.

(1) These veils or hangings were sometimes used to divide the chancel from the rest of the church.

1557.

(1) The custom of adorning the top of a steeple with a cock is one of great antiquity. The cock was supposed by some to remind the clergy of watchfulness (Du Cange, Gloss.); others think it had reference to the cock's crowing when St. Peter denied his Lord; and another reason for the adoption of this form of vane is this: “The manner of adorning the tops of steeples with a cross and a cock is derived from the Goths, who bore that as their warlike ensign.” (Minute Book of the Soc. of Antiq., I. 105.)

1558.

(1) This is the only occurrence of an assessment in the churchwardens accounts.

1559.

(1) "obligacon" = an agreement.

1560.

(1) The rood loft was pulled down and sold this year. Other items follow this relating to the sale by the churchwardens of iron and old materials, all belonging to the rood loft.

(2) The Paraphrase of Erasmus was ordered to be set up in every parish church in order to assist the unlearned in the interpretation of Scripture.

NOTE.—At the foot of this account is written "Colect for y^e heyghwaye," but no name is added.

1561.

(1) The chapel mentioned here, and in 1545 and 1548, was probably either the Chantry Chapel or the chapel of St. Paul within the castle.

(2) Queen Elizabeth. Possibly on her way to little Hadham Hall.

1562.

(1) "Pytell" = a small enclosure.

1563.

(1) The Second Book of Homilies. The most important editions of the Homilies are :

First Book, first edition, 1547, last of July, I. Edward VI.

Second, divided as at present, 1549, August.

Second Book, 1st 1563. That on Wilful Rebellion was added 1571.

Last, by authority, 1623.

1564.

(1) This item is the first instance in these accounts of payment for tolling a bell at the death or burial of a parishioner. [For information regarding the passing bell, or "soul bell," read Brand's "Pop. Antiq.," ii. 202.]

(2) See note (1) 1560.

1565.

(1) Questmen = sidesmen.

1566.

(1) The following extracts are from the churchwardens' accounts of the parish of St. Peter, Cheapside, London :

1564. Item payde for foure prayer bookes against the turke iiij*d*.

Item pd for three bookes of thankesgevinge for the turkes ou'throw vj*d*.

1565. Pd for ij prayer bookes ag^t the Turke iiij*d*.

1571. Geven to the Ringers for the victorie over the Turk and at the thawght of the queenes mat^{ies} reigne xvj*d*.

From the accounts of the churchwardens of St. Matthews, Friday Street, London :

156⁵/₈. Item pd for to prairer bocks against y^e turke iiij*d*.

1567.

(1) Edward Parker, Lord Morley, great-grandson and heir of Henry (Parker) Lord Morley, was one of the peers who pronounced judgement of death on Mary, Queen of Scots, at Foderinghay on January 16th, anno 29 Elizabeth, on Phillip, Earl of Arundel, anno 32 Elizabeth, and on Robert, Earl of Essex, anno 43 Elizabeth. William Lord Morley, and Monteagle, his son, in the third of James I. (bearing then in his father's lifetime the title of Lord Monteagle only), discovered the plot by which the King and Parliament were intended to be assassinated on the 5th of November. Lord Morley resided at Hallingbury Place, at present the seat of John Archer Houblon, esq.

(1) See note (1) 1563.

(2) This word is probably intended for "monuments," as Foxe's "Monuments" was one of those books that were specially ordered to be chained in parish churches.

1573.

(1) Previous to the Reformation this church must have possessed some very fine stained glass. Sir H. Chauncy gives a description of some remnants existing in his time.

1574.

(1) I am told that there was formerly a well at the north east angle of the church yard.

1575.

(1) Query, is this the house which was afterwards known as the Cock-pit House, and which formerly stood on the south side of Taintor Hill, near the top?

(2) St. Hugh's Day, November 17th, was afterwards (1679) celebrated as Queen Elizabeth's Day [see "Book of Days," ii. 588.]

1576.

(1) See note (1) 1622.

1578.

(1) At this period Little Hadham Hall was a seat of the Capell family.

(2) In a previous year there is an item "for painting Jack vja." I suppose this means a jack for the chimes; see also 1583.

1579 or 1580.

(1) The earthquake here referred to occurred on the evening of Easter Wednesday (April 6th), 1580. "The great Clock at Westminster struck at the shock and the bells, of the various churches were set jangling. The people rushed out of the Theatres."

This earthquake was felt pretty generally throughout the kingdom, and was the cause of much damage in Kent. So alarmed were all classes that Queen Elizabeth thought it advisable to cause a form of prayer to be used by all householders with their whole family every evening before going to bed.

(2) This, I imagine, is what is called, in a former account, the "school loft."

1581.

(1) The fashion of employing hour-glasses in churches was chiefly introduced after the Reformation, when long sermons became the order of the day. Previous to that period pulpit discourses appear to have been generally characterised by brevity. They lingered in country churches, but ceased to be in anything like general use after the Restoration.

(2) This item, I imagine, refers to the making of a book similar to that called, "Ye Churchwardens' Booke, 1642." These books appear to have been made almost every year, and it is therefore somewhat strange that only one should now be found among the parish papers.

1582.

(1) This year the town was visited with the plague. The sickness commenced about the middle of June, 1582, and lasted until the following March. The following extract from the Parish Register will give an idea of the death-rate at this period :

In 1579 (reckoning O.S. from March to March) the number of burials registered was 14.

In 1580 " " " was 20

In 1581 " " " " 19

In 1582 " " " " 94

Out of the 94 who were buried in 1582, 66 died of the plague.

1583.

(1) See note (2) 1578, and items in 1590 and 1592.

1586.

(1) See note (6) 1547.

(2) The book of articles were the usual episcopal inquiries with which the churchwardens needed to provide themselves for the visitations.

1587.

(1) From the churchwardens' accounts of St. Matthew, Friday Street, London.

1588-9. Pd. for a proklemasson of wayghts with a bord to put it on. . . xd.
From the churchwardens' accounts of St. Peter Cheap, London :

1589. Item for a proclamacōn concerninge waights to be sette in the churche vjd.

See also the item in 1602.

1588.

(1) These items refer to the defeat of the Spanish Armada, which took place in July, 1588.

1589.

(1) I have examined the entries in the Burial Register for this year, and it does not appear that there was a visitation of sickness, the number of deaths being about the same as the previous and subsequent years. The "tyme of ye trouble" possibly refers to a time of scarcity.

1590.

(1) The King here referred to was Henry IV. (Henry of Navarre, who succeeded to the throne after the assassination of Henry III.), and the fact that in 1590 Queen Elizabeth sent him £22,000 and 4,000 men under Lord Willoughby to assist him in fighting against the "League," will, I think, sufficiently explain why his "good successe" was prayed for.

1598.

(1) This is the Parish Register which is still in the church ; and the baptisms, marriages and burials were now copied into it ; the earliest entry is in 1561.

1601.

(1) Tanning seems to have been carried on in Water Lane in 1482, and the tannery continued for several generations in the Jardfield family. This is the first time I find any allusion to malting in these accounts ; the word after malt I have been unable to decipher satisfactorily, but it looks like "ck (or l) oss (or h) e."

(2) In 1601 was passed the second Compulsory Poor Law.

"Justices to assess all dwellings ; churchwardens and overseers to provide work, build poor-houses, and apprentice paupers." This Act extended to the time of William IV, 1834.

(3) Edward Stanhope, LL.D., was Prebend of Cantlers in St. Paul's Cathedral in 1591. He was Chancellor to the Bishop of London and Vicar-General to the Archbishop of Canterbury.

1602.

(1) See note 1587.

1603.

(1) James I. was crowned on July 25, St. James's Day. Queen Elizabeth died on March 24, 1603.

(2) This item probably refers to a brief for the relief of some distress in Geneva.

(3) It would appear from these items that assizes were at this period occasionally held at Stortford.

1611.

NOTE.—The reckoning this year is from Easter Monday to Easter Monday, and the account is this year signed by twenty-five parishioners.

1612.

(1) The Bible purchased this year would be the authorised version which was published in 1611.

1614.

(1) The 5th of August was at this time observed as a holiday in England to commemorate the escape of King James (then King of Scotland only) from the Gowrie Conspiracy.

(2) Skull-hole, probably another name for Bone-House.

1619.

(1) A letter of request was simply a license to solicit alms or relief; other terms are also used implying the same permission, as in the following extracts from the accounts of the churchwardens of Ryton, near Coventry:

1618. Item given to a minister wh his patente for fyre on the weke day about St. Andrew's tyde 5*d*.

1619. Item layd downe to a brieffe for a Dârbyshyre man iij*d*.

1619. Item to a poore woman with a passe about ye same tyme ij*d*.

1629. Item to a Scottish marchand with a license iiij*d*.

These licenses, etc., were granted in accordance with an Act passed in 1530, 22 Henry VIII. c. 12, which enabled justices to grant licenses to impotent persons allowing them to beg within certain limits, and if found begging out of their limits they were to be set in the stocks. All persons able to labour who begged or were vagrant were to be whipped and sent to the place of their birth.

(2) Probably the house which covered the clock.

(1) The Bill of presentments was probably a report to the full vestry of the way in which the duties to be done by the parishioners, and which the respective officers had each under his particular charge, had been fulfilled during the past year. The churchwardens were also empowered to make a presentment as to the character of the minister and the mode in which he performed his duties.

1623.

(1) This, I imagine, means the degrees of affinity.

(2) This probably refers to the return of the Prince of Wales (Charles I.) from the continent, where he and Buckingham had this year been travelling under the names of John and Thomas Smith.

1625.

(1) Charles I. succeeded to the throne March 27th, 1625.

(2) The plague this year compelled Parliament to remove from Westminster to Oxford; 35,417 persons died in London. I have examined the entries in the Burial Register for this year, but it does not appear that the visitation extended to Stortford.

1629.

(1) The minister and churchwardens were bound by law to send a copy of the christenings, marriages and burials to the Bishop of the diocese, or his chancellor, within a month after the 25th of March. For further information regarding "Bishops Transcripts" read Burn's "History of Parish Registers."

1630.

(1) Probably Mr. Henry Glascock of Hertishobury or Hassobury, Farnham, County Essex. In 1625 this rent was paid by a Mr. Angell of London.

(2) John Dane, by deed dated 21st of July, 1630, in consideration of the parish having been at great charge in relieving Margaret his mother-in-law, the wife of Thomas Bowyer, after the death of her husband, etc., conveyed a parcel of ground taken out of a great yard belonging to John Dane, with a heremall there, or booth, and half part of a well lying in Hockerill Street, for the benefit of the chief inhabitants of this parish for ever.

1631.

(1) William Laud, afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury.

1633.

(1) These items probably refer to "Faculty Pews," of which I am told there were three in this church. A Mr. Butler was instituted vicar here in 1632.

(2) This was the "Book of Sports," which was this year again ordered to be read by the clergy in their churches.

1634.

(1) Sir H. Chauncy says that Maplecross was on the south of the town.

(2) I presume that the chancellor of the Bishop of London is meant here. His name was Thomas Turner, S.I.B.; he was collated to the office Oct. 29, 1629, and died Oct. 8, 1672, aged 81. He was domestic chaplain to Archbishop Laud, Chaplain to the King, and Dean of Canterbury.

1635.

(1) The Palsgrave here referred to was Charles Lodowick, the Prince Palatine, who came to England this year. For information as to the object of his visit read Aikin's "Charles I.," i. ch. xi. He probably passed through Stortford, and the bells were rung in his honour.

(2) As there is no item in the account for this year showing that the window itself was enlarged, the inference is that some of the old stained glass was removed and replaced by new plain glass.

1640.

(1) "On Saturday the 24th of November, 1640, a proclamation was put forth for a general fast to be held in this part the 17th of this instant, November, and elsewhere upon the 8th of December."

[Historical notices of the reign of Charles I. by Nehemiah Wallington.]

NOTE.—One of the sidesmen this year was "John Gladwin of Dane-at-Coyves."

1641.

(1) On the 3rd of May, 1641, the House finding that there have been and having cause to suspect that there still are, even during the sittings of Parliament, endeavours made to subvert the fundamental laws of England and

Ireland whereupon the subjects have been prosecuted and grieved, and that divers innovations have been brought into the church, multitudes driven out of his Majesty's dominions, jealousies created between the king and his people, and a Popish army levied in Ireland, and two armies brought into the bowels of the kingdom, and that endeavours have been and are used to bring the English army into misunderstanding of this Parliament, thereby to incline that army by force to bring to pass those wicked counsels, adopt the following form of protestation :

"I, A. B., do in the presence of Almighty God, promise, vow, and protest to maintain and to defend as I lawfully may, with my life, power, and estate, the true Reformed religion, expressed in the doctrine of the Church of England, against all Popery and Popish innovation within this realm, contrary to the said doctrine; and, according to the duty of my allegiance, I will maintain and defend his Majesty's royal person, honour, and estate, also the power and privilege of Parliament, the lawful rights and liberties of the subjects, and every person that shall make this protestation, in whatsoever he shall do in the lawful performance of the same; and to my power, as far as lawfully I may, I will oppose, and by all good ways and means endeavour to bring condign punishment on all such as shall by force, practices, counsels, plots, conspiracies, or otherwise, do anything to the contrary in this present protestation contained. And further that I shall in all just and honourable ways endeavour to preserve the union and peace between the three kingdoms of England, Scotland, and Ireland; and neither for hope, fear, or any other respect shall relinquish this promise, vow, and protestation."

This protestation was immediately taken by all the members of the House then present, and the next day it was sent up to the House of Lords, where it was also taken by all who were present, with only two exceptions. It was afterwards taken very generally by the absentees of either House. On the 5th this protestation was sent down into all the counties, with an intimation that it would be agreeable to the House if it were also taken by all corporations, sheriffs, and justices of the peace. Directions were also given that it should be also submitted to the ministers and inhabitants of the different parishes, to whom it should be read "on the afternoon of some Lord's Day after sermon;" and that "there be a register book provided in which every man taking it should subscribe his name, and that the names be taken of such as do refuse the same." Several of the Parish Registers of Essex contain this "protestation," together with the signatures of the minister and the parishioners appended to it.

[David's "Annals of Evangelical Nonconformity in Essex," p. 193.]

(1) I am not certain what this item means, but it may have some reference to the "protestation" or the Popish army levied in Ireland.

1643.

(1) I think there is very little doubt that the items marked A in 1641-42-43 relate to the destruction or removal of the stained glass and brasses with the so-called "Popish inscriptions or images." At this period very many of our fine old parish churches were thoroughly despoiled of everything in the shape of a cross, stained glass, or brasses with such inscriptions as "Orate pro anima," etc., by ignorant zealots, who went about the country doing this work only too well. The following extract from Burn's "History of Parish Registers," p. 101, will perhaps best illustrate the character of these men and their work :

"Dr. Berwick, in his 'Querela Cantabrigiensis,' notices one of these zealots.

"One who calls himself John' (it should be William) 'Dowsing, and by virtue of a pretended Commission, goes about y^e country, like a Bedlam, breaking glasse windows, having battered and beaten downe all our painted glasse, not only in our chappels, but (contrary to order) in our Publique Schools, Colledge Halls, Libraries, and Chambers, mistaking, perhaps, y^e liberall Artes for Saints (which they intend in time to pull down too), and having (against an order) defaced and digged up y^e floors of our Chappels, many of which had lien so for two or three hundred years together, not regarding y^e dust of our founders and predecessors, who likely were buried there; compelled us by armed souldiers to pay forty shillings a Colledge for not mending what he had spoyled and defaced, or forthwith to goe to prison.' ”

In the churchwardens' accounts of Walberswich, Suffolk is :

| | | |
|-------|--|-------|
| 1644. | April 8. Paid to Master Dowson that came with the troopers to our church, about the taking down of Images and Brasses off Stones | o 6 o |
| 1644. | Paid that day to others for taking up the brasses of grave stones before the officer Dowson came | o 1 o |

This William Dowsing, it appears, kept a journal of his ecclesiastical exploits. With reference to the church of Toffe, he says :

“Will. Disborough, Churchwarden, Richard Basly, and John Newman, Cunstable, 27 Superstitious pictures in glass and ten other in stone, three brass inscriptions, Pray for y^e Soules, and a Cross to be taken of the Steeple (6s. 8d.), and there was divers Orate pro Animabus in y^e windows, and on a bell, Ora pro Anima Sanctæ Catharinæ.

“Trinity Parish, Cambridge, M. Frog, Churchwarden. December 25 we brake down 80 Popish pictures, and one of Christ and God y^e Father above.”

“At Clare we brake down 1,000 pictures superstitious.”

“Cochie, there were divers pictures in the windows which we could not reach, neither would they help us to raise the ladders.

“1643. Jan. 1. Edward's parish, we digged up the steps, and brake down 40 pictures, and took off 10 superstitious inscriptions.”

Mr. Cole, in his MSS., observes :

“From this last entry we may clearly see to whom we are obliged for the dismantling of almost all the grave stones that had brasses on them, both in town and country; a sacrilegious sanctified rascal, that was afraid, or too proud to call it St. Edward's Church, but not ashamed to rob the dead of their honours, and the church of its ornaments.—W. C.”

“Lowestoft (1644). In the same year also, on the 12th of June, there came one Jessop, with a commission from the Earl of Manchester, to take away from gravestones all inscriptions on which he found Orate pro Anima—a wretched commissioner, not able to read or find out that which his commission enjoined him to remove, he took up in one church so much brasse, as he sold to Mr. Josiah Wild for five shillings, which was afterwards (contrary to my knowledge) runn into the little bell that hangs in the Town House. There were taken up in the middle Ayl twelve pieces belonging to twelve generations of the Jettours.”

It is not to be wondered at that Mr. Cole's wrath should be kindled against this individual, who left in Mr. Cole's native county so many marks of his devastating presence, and more especially, as monuments, etc., for the dead were excepted in the Act under which this Wm. Dowsing claimed to derive his authority. In that year (1643) one of the Bills proposed to King Charles at Oxford by the Lords and Commons enacts :

“That all altars and rails be taken away out of Churches and Chapels before April 18, 1643, and that the Communion-Table be fixed in some convenient part in the Body of the Church. That all Tapers, Candlesticks, Basons, Crucifixes, Crosses, Images, Pictures of Saints, and superstitious inscriptions in Churches or Churchyards be taken away or defaced. This is not to extend to any Image, Picture, or Monnment for the Dead.”—[Burn's “Parish Registers.”]

The officer of the Earl of Manchester mentioned in this item, if not the notorious Dowsing himself, was another officer appointed to see carried out here a destruction similar to that which took place in the County of Suffolk.

1644.

NOTE.—At the foot of this account is written :

“Md. that the 9th day of february, 1647, Thomas Kinge hath pd. to Will^m. Reade the elder, one of the Collectors for the poore, according to the order of Sir John Gore and Mr. Scroggs, the Remynder of the Stocke he had in his hand to sett the poore on worke the sume of vli. iiij s. viij d. ob., w^{ch} wth the sume above allowed him makes up the full sume of xij li. and vs. w^{ch} he had of the Stocke.

Wm. M Reade.

“Witnes hereto me, Tho. Barnard.”

NOTE.—Since the year 1561 the names of the Parishioners elected to fill the Offices of Churchwardens, Sidesmen, and Surveyors of the Highways for the ensuing year, have been written at the foot of the accounts. This year's account contains, in addition to the above, the appointment of constables, collectors for the poor, collectors of the market house rents, and leather sealers. Four parishioners are also nominated to receive the town stock.

1647.

(1) It is little to be wondered at that there are so many errors of omission and commission in our old parish registers, when we find that a period of nineteen years is allowed to pass before the memoranda of the various christenings, marriages, and deaths are entered into the parchment book.

1648.

(1) The arithmetic of the churchwardens is a little faulty here.

(2) During the Civil War it was by no means an uncommon thing for soldiers to be quartered in churches. The soldiers here referred to were possibly a portion of Cromwell's army from Walden, on the march to London.

NOTE.—The houses in the churchyard appear at this time, and for some years past, to have been let out in rooms or chambers, generally to widows.

1649.

(1) See Note (1), 1647.

1654.

(1) From 1652 to 1656 a large number of poor and distressed persons were relieved by the churchwardens here ; in 1655 the greater number of recipients were “women w^h came out of Ireland.”

From a note at the foot of this year's account, it appears that the late churchwarden delivered up to his successor (?) “3 . . . of bucketts, 2 flaggons, a communion cup, and the grene cloth, and a dyaper coverlid.”

1680.

(1) This is the house in the market square at present (1881) the residence of Mr. A. Rushall.

(2) See note (10).

(3) This house, I presume, stood upon the site now occupied by the Plume of Feathers Inn.

(4) Fockinghams stood in Basbow Lane. The house was pulled down a few years ago by the owner, Mr. G. E. Sworder.

(5) See note (4) 1515.

(6) Paradise was the name of a piece of ground on the south of Apton Field.

(7) Sextons Mead was the name of a field nearthead of Dane Street, or (as it was lately called) Dell Lane. This field was purchased by the railway company.

(8) Chalkcroft is a field between the "Cricket-field Lane" and the rifle butts.

(9) Comon Down is to the north of the road leading from Stortford to Farnham.

(10) This Mrs. Aynsworth was the notorious "Betty Aynsworth," landlady of the Reindeer Inn which stood at the corner of the High Street, on the site now occupied by the house of Mr. Robert Cole. Her character will be best illustrated by the following extract from the diary of Samuel Pepys:

"1667, Oct. 7. . . . So we to Enfield, and there bayted, it being but a foul, bad day, and there Lowther and Mr. Burford, an acquaintance of his, did overtake us, and there drank and eat together; and by-and-by we parted, we going before them, and very merry, my wife and girl talking, and telling tales, and singing, and before night come to Bishop Stafford, where Lowther and his friend did meet us again, and carried us to the Rayne-deere, where Mrs. Aynsworth, who lived heretofore at Cambridge, and whom I knew better than they think for, do live. It was the woman that among other things was great with my cozen Barnston of Cottenham, and did use to sing to him, and did teach me. 'Full forty times over,' a very lewd song; a woman they are well acquainted with, and is here what she was at Cambridge, and all the good fellows of the country come hither. Lowther and his friend staid and drank, and then went further this night; but here we stayed, and supped and lodged . . . so that being done, and my mind at ease, we to supper, and so to bed, my wife and I in one bed and the girl in another, in the same room, and lay very well, but there was so much tearing company in the house that we could not see the landlady, so I had no opportunity of renewing my old acquaintance with her."

"1668, May 23rd. Up by four o'clock, and getting my things ready, and recommending the care of my house to W. Hewer, I with my boy Tom, whom I take with me to the Bull in Bishopsgate Street, and there, about six, took coach, he and I and a gentleman and his man, there being another coach also with as many more in it; and so away to Bishop's Stafford. Dined and changed horses and coach, at Mrs. Aynsworth's; but I took no knowledge of her. To dinner, and in comes Captain Forster, that do belong to my Lord Anglesey, who had been at the late horse-races at Newmarket, where the King now is, and says that they had fair weather there yesterday, though we here and at London had nothing but rain, insomuch that the ways are mighty full of water, so as hardly to be passed. I hear Mrs. Aynsworth is going to live at London; but, I believe, will be mistaken in it, for it will be found better for her to be chief where she is than to have little to do at London."

Lord Braybrooke in a note says:

"Elizabeth Aynsworth, here mentioned, was a noted Procuress at Cambridge, banished from that town by the University authorities for her evil courses. She subsequently kept the Rein Deer Inn at Bishop's Stortford, at which the Vice-Chancellor and some of the heads of Colleges had occasion to sleep, in their way to London, and were nobly entertained, their supper being served off plate. The next morning their hostess refused to make any charge, saying that she was still indebted to the Vice-Chancellor, who by driving her out of Cambridge had made her fortune. No tradition of this woman has been preserved at Bishop's Stortford; but it appears from the register of that parish that she was buried there 26th March, 1686. It is recorded in the History of Essex, iii. 130, 8vo., 1770, and in a pamphlet in the British Museum entitled 'Boteler's Case,' that she was implicated in the murder of Captain Wood, a Hertfordshire gentleman, at Mannden, in Essex, and for which offence a person named Boteler was executed at Chelmsford 10th Sept., 1667, and that Mrs. Aynsworth, tried at the same time as an accessory before the fact, was acquitted for want of evidence; though in her way to the jail she endeavoured to throw herself into the river, but was prevented."

["Diary and Correspondence of Samuel Pepys" by Richard Lord Braybrooke.]

1684.

(1) The house formerly known as the "Dog's Head in the Pot," is still standing in the Market Square in rear of the Corn Exchange. Modern sign-painters have, however, robbed the dog of his pot.

(2) That is, for those of the parishioners who went "beating the bounds" of the parish.

(3) See the account for the destruction of vermin.

1685.

(1) It would appear from this item that in beating the bounds of the parish it was necessary for the procession, or "possessioning" party to pass through the house, garden, or premises of a Mr. Waynckford, and that on these occasions it was customary for the churchwardens to "tip" his maid. Mr. Thomas Slater informs me that he remembers as a boy going round the bounds of the parish, and that in so doing they passed through Wickham Hall, one of the rooms there being partly in Farnham and partly in Stortford parish. Possibly Mr. Waynckford occupied Wickham Hall in 1685.

(2) The "chimney men" = the men who collected the hearth tax.

(3) The Duke of Monmouth, who headed the rebellion in the south of England.

(4) The scholars mentioned here were probably scholars of the Stortford school.

1688.

(1) This no doubt refers to the second "Declaration of Indulgence," which was ordered by James II. to be read in all churches on the two Sundays, May 20 and 27.

(2) The prince mentioned here is James Francis Edward, the son of James II. He was born on June 10, 1688, but as news travelled slowly in these times, it is not to be wondered at that the bells of Stortford were not rung until the 12th.

1696.

(1) Most probably this was the yew-tree, which is now standing on the south side of the church. It is supposed that yew-trees were originally planted in churchyards to secure the trees from the cattle, and thus preserve them for the encouragement of archery.

1698.

(1) Horseman Ditch was a piece of ground lying next the vicarage yard, containing one rood.

(2) The Bishop of London appointed a bailiff for his manor here.

1703.

(1) The great storm of 1703 was a violent hurricane of a week's duration; it reached its height on the morning of Saturday, November 27. For an account of its ravages, see Chambers's "Book of Days," ii. 622.

1713.

(1) See the decree of the Court of Chancery.

1718.

(1) From these items it would appear that the open timbered roof was this year ceiled. At this period in the history of architecture, this kind of work was known as "beautifying." See the item in 1710.

1743.

(1) See note, 1685.

*THE CHANTRY AND GUILD OF ST.
JOHN THE BAPTIST.*

Among the Church papers are two very much dilapidated, which have been endorsed on the back by some one, "Relating to the Chantry."

No. 1 appears to me to be the account of the Collectors of the Guild or Fraternity of St. John the Baptist in this town for eight years.

No. 2 is the account of the expenses relating to the establishment and endowment of the Chantry of St. John the Baptist by Baldwin Victor, in the second year of King Richard III.

The parts filled out with dots indicate the portions of the pages that are torn off.

Quite distinct from Baldwin's Chantry within the parish church of Stortford, was the Chantry which existed within the Chapel of St. Paul in Stortford Castle.

In the "Rotulorum Patentium," Edward III., anno 26, I find: "Pro præpositio et capellanis S. Pauli infra Castrum de Stortford." This I find was a license from the King to Ralph de Stratford, Bishop of London, to found and endow a college or large chantry of secular priests to be governed by a provost within the chapel of Saint Paul in his castle here. They were to pray for the souls of Queen Philippa and the Bishop; a place of habitation was assigned for them in the castle, to have and to hold, and they were to have temporalities to the amount of £20 per annum.

"Here were certain messuages and Tenements in the Parish called Menants or Monants belonging to a Chantry in B^p Stortford, in Hertfordshire, of the foundation of Baldwin Victor, which in 3 Edw. VI. were granted to Henry Parker and Peter Gray, which Messuages and Tenements in the 4th Edw. VI. were by virtue of the King's license alienated by the said Henry Parker to John Welborne or Melborne, who by like license alienated the same 4th and 5th of Phil. and Mary to Thomas Brown of Little Easton, who 1 Eliz. held the same." [Newcourt's "Repert."]

THE INVENTORIES OF THE CHURCH GOODS.

Among the MSS. in the church there are nine papers of inventories and memoranda relating to the sale of the church goods. The earliest (1537) is written upon parchment and the others upon paper. They are now placed in the MS Book. No. I. But before giving a transcript of them it may be as well to say a few words as to why they were taken.

At the commencement of the Reformation in England, and after the seizure of the revenues of the monasteries and religious houses by King Henry VIII., the people, following the example of their King, began to help themselves to the goods, furniture, and plate belonging to the various parish churches. When Edward VI. succeeded to the throne this abuse had reached such a pitch that it was found necessary to put an end to it. Cromwell, the Vicar-General, hit upon the happy expedient of stopping robbery by individuals by taking the whole of the treasures of the Church into the King's coffers. He, therefore, in the second of Edward VI., issued a commission to inquire into the quantity and value of church goods in England, and it was in obedience to this commission that these inventories of church goods at Stortford were drawn up.

(The previous inventory, 1537, was probably drawn up by the order of the churchwardens, who were responsible to the parishioners for the safe custody of their goods.)

In the sixth year of Edward VI. another commission was appointed for the same business, but during the time which elapsed between the first and second commissions, the inhabitants of Stortford disposed of their goods. The account that the churchwardens of Stortford rendered to this second commission is given in the extract from Mr. Cussan's book, which I have printed at page 97. If the reader will go carefully through these inventories and compare the items with the amounts of the receipts in the accounts for the years 1547—48, and then compare these again with the amounts mentioned in the depositions of the churchwardens when before the King's commissioners, he will then ascertain how much of the money actually reached the King's coffers, how much was laid out upon the repairs of the church, and how much was not.

On parchment, date 1537.

Gradual, Gradale or Greyle. In the Romish Church properly, a sentence in the Communion Office sung after the Epistle. But the term, in its usual signification, not only includes the sentence called the Gradual, but also all the other parts of the office of the Holy Eucharist which were sung, viz., Asperges, Introit, Kyrie Eleison, Gloria in Excelsis, Hallelujah, Tract, Sequence, Creed, Offertory, Sanctus, Agnus Dei, etc. The name indicates that some of these anthems were chanted from the steps of the chancel or ambon. [Staunton's "Ecclesiastical Dictionary."]

Manual. So called from manu, as being required to be constantly at hand. It seems to be the same as the ritual, and contains all things belonging to the ministration of sacraments and sacramentals; also the blessing of fonts, and other things by the use of the Church requiring benediction; also the whole service used at processions. CHURCH RENTALS.

There are twelve of these Rentals among the church papers, and the items throughout are similar to those in the receipts of the churchwardens for corresponding years, and from which extracts have been given.

I have transcribed the two following Rentals verbatim. There is no date on the first, but it is apparently circa Edward IV. or Richard³ III. The second is a portion only, dated 21st of Henry VIII.

THE CHURCHWARDENS' BOOK, 1642.

From Items in the accounts of the Churchwardens it appears that from the time of Queen Elizabeth a book of this kind was made almost every year; it is therefore rather singular that only one should now be found among the parish papers.

This little book consists of 18 leaves stitched together. It is headed:

Stortford.

This is the Churchwardens booke there for the yeare 1642 A^o R. Caroli xviii^o.

Willm Barnard
and Ralfe Bull } Churchwardens.

The book commences with a list of the amounts collected for the church clerk's wages and for communion silver. This list probably contains the names of all the householders in the parish. I have therefore transcribed it verbatim.

Now follow lists of receipts and payments, but as the items are for the most part a repetition of the items occurring in the accounts for the years 1641-42-43, I do not think it necessary to recopy them here.

THE DESTRUCTION OF VERMIN.

The Accounte and Reconyng of me Edward Wylley of Stortford, Collectore of all man' of veyrmane of ij yeres past both of Charge and Dyscharge as here aft' folloth frome the xij daye of App'le in a^o 1569 to this yere of a^o 1571.

On the first page is what he terms his "charge," which is an account of moneys received by him from various persons "at v tymes;" he received altogether "lijs. vii $\frac{1}{2}$ d." Then follows his "Dyscharge," which consists of various payments made by him to the destroyers of vermin :

He paid for—

|---|------------------|
| Hedge hoggs heads | 2d. each |
| Crose eggs | 2d. per doz. |
| pyse eggs | 2d. " |
| vj yonge crose | 1d. |
| vj crose hedds | 1d. |
| vj hawkys hedes | 1d. |
| xij Ratts hedes | 4d. |
| 1 mowlle | $\frac{1}{2}$ d. |
| xij myse heddes | 1d. |
| xij starlyngs hedes | 1d. |
| a weysells hede | 1d. |
| v hedds of the kyngs fyschers | 5d. |
| a powlle Catts hedd | 2d. |
| a boulle fynches hed | 1d. |

During the two years over which this account extends I find that vermin was destroyed within the parish of Stortford to the following extent, viz. :

141 hedgehogs, 53 moles, 6 weasels, 202 crows' eggs, 128 pies' eggs, 18 young crows, 80 rats, 18 crows, 2 bullfinches, 5 hawks, 24 starlings, 5 kingfishers, 1 polecat, 1,426 mice; and besides these there were 118 heads of crows, hawks, and "cadows" (jackdaws).

NOTE.—“There used to be a standing committee in every parish for the destruction of ‘noyfull fowles and vermyn.’ The practice still exists in some rural parishes. But many readers may be surprised to learn that this object was formerly felt to be so important that the practical use of it already then existing in many parishes received the express sanction of general suggestion by statute. A committee, consisting of the churchwardens together with six other parishioners, is named with power to tax and assess every person holding lands or tythes in any parish yearly at Easter, and whenever else it may be needful, in order to raise a sum of money to be put in the hands of two other persons, who are to distribute it. And these distributors are to pay this money in rewards for the different sorts of vermin brought in. The record is curious and interesting enough on its own account to be rescued from forgetfulness, if only for its bearing on the natural history of the country.” [Toulmin Smith, “The Parish,” p. 232.]

ACCOUNTS OF THE COLLECTORS FOR THE POOR.

The office of collector is a very ancient one, in fact, few are of older date.

The duty of these collectors, or distributors, as they were sometimes also called, appears to have been to collect the money once a quarter from the townfolk for the use of the poor, and to assist the vicar and churchwardens in distributing alms. Collectors for the poor continued to be appointed in Stortford until 1653. Overseers of the poor, though created by a statute of the 39th of Elizabeth, were not appointed here until 1650.

Among the parish papers I find only nine accounts, or portions of the accounts, of these collectors. I have transcribed the account for 1566 in full, as a specimen, and have made the following extracts from the other years.

1564.

To the Prisoners¹ xs. iiij*d*.

1565.

From the Receipts.

Mathew the Brasyer j*d*.

From the Payments.

The Sowrgyns woymant² iijs.

1582.

The account for this year is unfortunately not complete; the portion extant contains the disbursements made to the sick from the 18th to the 25th of November, during a visitation of the plague (see notes to Churchwardens' Accounts, 1582).

The items for the 18th and 19th of November I have transcribed verbatim.

¹ This item may possibly refer to some prisoners confined in the castle dungeon, which at this period was used as a prison by the Bishops of London.

² Probably a woman employed by the surgeon to attend upon the sick.

¹ The plague appears to have raged in Stortford from about July to November, 1666; cases of death, however, occurred in 1667. In the parish register the entries of the burials of persons known to have died of the plague are marked Pl. And from this source I find that the following number of people died of the plague here, viz. :

Estimating the population of Stortford at this time to have been about 1200 or 1500, we find that nearly one-sixth of the people were carried off by this dreadful disease. It must be borne in mind that these 231 burials were actually registered, and that it is possible that some may have died of the plague here whose burials were not registered at the parish church.

The Order and Decree of the Court which follows the above finding is not sufficiently interesting to transcribe here, but it may be summarised as follows :

The Commissioners being “satisfied that parte of y^e said charityes hath been imbezilled or misemployed,” and “that there is a greate want of Trustees,” proceed to make the following orders and decrees :

Thomas Barnard's lease of 2 acres of land near “Windlefeild” was made void and widdow Barnard had to pay up £3, “which att sixe shillings and eight pence by the yeare for nyne yeares amounts to soe much, and is the increase of rent over and above what hath been hitherto paid."

George Barnes was ordered to "lay open y^e said well and make itt in as good repaire as formerly itt was, soe that itt may be usefull to y^e poore people dwelling in ye said house."

Thomas Barnard's lease of half an acre of land in Aptonfield and Mr. Denny's lease of the Bark Barn in Water Lane were made void. The Commissioners considered the land in Aptonfield worth 20s p^r an^m, and they therefore ordered Widow Barnard to pay the sum of £6, "which att Thirteene shillings and four pence by y^e yeare amounts to soe much and is for the arrears of y^e said land to make y^e full vullue for the same."

Mr. Edward Denny was ordered to pay £10 "being the sune due for arreares of rent, and to make the said rent of 40s. by the yeare amount to £3 by the yeare," he had also to pay 37s. "for and by reason he hath not duely and sufficently kept the said premises in repair."

Mrs. Sarah Eve, the daughter and heiress of Mary Miller, had to pay 10s. 4d. "being due for one and thirty yeares arreares of Rent," and was ordered in future to pay 4d. per an^m to the Churchwardens.

The Commissioners finding "that they haveing assets of their husbands sufficent in their hands," ordered Mary Maplesden and Judith Rochill to pay the sum of £43 19s. 0d.

The Commissioners further found that some of the charities had been "soe miserably managed that if some due care be not taken the said charityes will come to decay and ruine," they therefore appointed as Trustees of the charities belonging to the Church and Poor of Stortford the following gentlemen :

Sir Edward Turner of Great Hallingbury, Kn^t.

Sir Thomas Middleton of Stansted Mountfichet, Kn^t.

William Kendall of Takely, Esquire.

William Allen, Thomas Paske, William Newce, all of Much Hadham, Thomas Bonest of Hornemead, Matthew Blucke of Hunsdon, "William Calverd of ffurnix Pelham," John Yardley of Stortford, Esquires.

Michael Altham of Latton, Clerk.

Matthew Wolley, Samuel Snoden, William Cason, Thomas Hastler, all of Stortford, Gentlemen.

William Saunders, Apothecary, Richard Osborne, Tanner, Samuel Jocelyne, Grocer, William Bayford, Currier, all of Stortford.

The Vicar of Stortford for the time being (then Christopher Cooper), The Master of the Grammar School for the time being (then Thomas Tooke).

The Commissioners then proceed to lay down rules for the guidance of the Trustees, the Churchwardens, and the Overseers, after which they make the following additional orders and decrees.

Edward Denny was ordered to pay the sum of £6 "in respect of y^e greate charge and extraordinary trouble by his delayes and otherwise he hath put y^e prosecutors to in obteyneing this decree as aforesaid."

George Barnes had to pay 20s. "for and in respect hee stopped upp y^e said well to the wrong and damage of y^e poore people that Inhabitt therein."

Mary Miller had to pay the sum of 10s. "for and in respect shee kept in her hands money belonging to the Church and refused to pay y^e same though shee was civilly required soe to doe."

The monies thus obtained were to go towards paying the costs of the decree, and if this was found insufficient to meet the charges then the remainder was to be paid out of the monies recovered for Interest and Arrears of Rents.

Some of the persons mentioned in the above orders and decrees being at the time of the Inquisition dead, their arrears had to be paid up by their heirs, executors, or administrators.

On the next page are the minutes of a meeting of the trustees, held on April 19th, 1693, from which the following items are extracts :

Item.

It is ordered that y^e Churchwardens shall buy a Booke to keepe accounts, and a Chest to keepe y^e writings Relateing to y^e Church.

Item.

It is ordered that Whereas Mrs. Judith Rochill and Mrs. Mary Maplesden, who were decreed to pay y^e sume of £43 19s. od., have this day and before been ffrendly desired to pay y^e same, and were this day summoned to appeare before y^e said Trustees, and refused soe to doe or pay y^e said sume. It is ordered that Mr. James Altham do serve them with a copy of y^e Writt of Execution and presente them persuant to y^e direction of y^e decree.

Item.

It is ordered that Mr. William Bayford, one of the Churchwardens, do demand of Mr. Richard Carr and John Burling y^e seaventeene pounds with Interestt due on a Bond dated 26th day of June A.D. 1684, And upon nonpayment to deliver y^e Bond to Mr. James Altham to be sued.

There are no other minutes of meetings in this book, but on the next page is copied in an additional order of the High Court of Chancery, 1716.

This was a case heard before the Lord High Chancellor on July 6th 1716, between Sir Edward Turner, Knight, William Calvert, Esq., John Sandford, Esq., William Bayford, and others, the Trustees of the Charities of Stortford, Exceptants, and Thomas Clayton and Thomas Scott, Churchwardens of the said Parish, Respondents. After a recapitulation of the decree of the Commissioners for Charitable Uses, dated June 3rd, 1692, we come to the exceptions taken by the Trustees to this decree, and as these may be considered interesting, I transcribe them in full as follows :

“And the Exceptants' first exception to the Decree being for that the said Trustees, their Heires and Successors were from time to time to suffer the said Churchwardens for the time being to receive so much of the Profits of the Premisses as belongs to the Church, and the Overseers such of the profits as should become due to the Poor, and to lay out the same according to the Wills and appointments of the Donors. By vertue of which power the Churchwardens and Overseers may and some of them have taken upon them to lay out the Charity money contrary to the Direction of the Donors, and without the consent of the Trustees, and particularly the Respondents, the present Churchwardens, or one of them, hath without any directions of the Trustees (the least of the Bells of the Church being crackt) taken upon him or themselves to employ a Founder who hath melted three of the largest Bells, and made six into eight, and caused new Frames to be made, and agreed for chimes, and insist to have the Charity money employed in defraying the charge ; and the Respondents to cover such Proceedings have called a vestry and proposed they would put the Parish to no charge, but would find another way to do it, which the major part (there being about thirty present) refusing, the Respondents, after most of the vestry were gone, prevailed on eight of the meanest Inhabitants to sign an order that the Respondents should Receive what mony was in the Trustees or any former Churchwardens' hands to defray such charge of Bells, Frames, and Chimes, which Abuse would have been prevented if the Trustees had been impowered by the Decree to order how the mony should be laid out, and no part of the mony ought (as the Exceptants are advised) to be disposed by the Churchwardens or Overseers without the direction of the Trustees, nor ought the Charities to be subject to orders of Vestry, but be divided by the Trustees according to the Wills, Directions, and Appointments of the Donors.

“And the Charity mony, or so much as was requisite, was intended to be applyed in repairing severall Houses part of the Estate given to the Charity, and which, unless repaired, will be left by the Tenants, whereby the Income of the Charity will be much lessened.

“And the second Exception being for that the decree hath not impowered the Trustees to appoint fitting persons to collect the rents of and let the lands and Houses belonging to the Charity and to Repair the Houses for want of which the Charities are mis-applied.

“And the third Exception being for that the Decree appointing the Trustees, or seven of them, to meet yearly on the first Munday of August to take the accounts of the Churchwardens and Overseers, which happening to be in Harvest time, they come generally unprovided in their Accounts, and excuse themselves on account of its being Harvest Time; neither is there any Penalty on the Churchwardens or Overseers in case they do not meet at that time.

“And the Fourth exception being for that the Quorum of the Trustees are to be seven, whereas the chiefe of them live at some distance from the said Parish, and in case the Quorum consisted of Five only the Charity would be as well taken care of and more effectually dispatcht, it being a difficulty to get so many together as seven of the Trustees.

“And the Fifth Exception being for that the said Decree doth not sufficiently set forth the Particulars of the Lands and other things subject to the Payment of the Charities, nor which of them are charged for payment of the one Charity, nor which to the other, as the Exceptants are advised it ought to be, Whereto the Respondents Councill alleged That they by their answer confess there was such Decree, and that they were Churchwardens of Bishops Stortford for the years 1713 and 1714, and received the Rents of so much of the Premisses as did belong to the Church for the Reparations and Ornaments thereof except such as were yet in arrear, and have set forth an Account of what their Receipts and Disbursements amounted unto, by which it appears they are in disburse £3 or. 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., and are ready to produce an account of the particulars and to accompt for what monies are come to their hands as Churchwardens, having all just allowances either before a sufficient number of Trustees or otherwise as the Court shall direct. Confess that in 1713 one of the Bells called the Treble being crackt, and the canons of the Tenor Bell broke, and another Bell being out of order, insomuch that the said Bells were useless, the Respondents did without the direction of the Trustees employ a Founder to melt three of the largest Bells and made six Bells into Eight, and caused new Wheels to be made, but whether the same was contrary to the intent of the Donors they submit to the Court, but insist that what they did to the Bells was a real Reparation and Ornament to the Church, and conceive they were not by the said Decree obliged to consult the Trustees about employing the Bell-founder.

“ Confess there was such order of Vestry made as in the first Exception, which order was signed by about eight of the Parishioners, of whom the Respondents were two, and believe the major part of the Parishioners present did not agree to it, and therefore the Respondents have not nor do intend to contract for making of Chimes or to employ any of the Charity mony for that purpose without the consent of the Trustees or a sufficient number of them. Believe severall of the Houses are out of repair and untenanted, and the repairing them hath been omitted for the want of mony the Respondents being in disburse as aforesaid.

“ Whereupon and upon long debate of the matter and hearing the Decree of the Commissioners for Charitable Uses read, and what could be alledged by council on either side, His Lordship doth think fit and so order and Decree, That the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of the said Parish do continue respectively to receive the Rents and Profits of the Respective Charity Estates according to the Decree of the Commissioners, but the Churchwardens are not to issue any of the Charity monies to make any Ornaments of the Church without the consent of the major part of the said Trustees first had in writing. The number of the Quorum of Trustees who are by the said Decree to act touching the Charities are to be reduced from seven to Five, which Five are to act in all respects as the Seven were by the said Decree to do.

“ And it being suggested that the first of August, which is by the Decree appointed for the Trustees annually to meet on to take the Accounts of the said Charities, is an inconvenient time by reason of the Harvest and otherwise, His Lordship doth order that such time of meeting be changed to the Monday in the Whitsun week yearly.

“ And it is hereby referred to Sir Thomas Gerey, one of the Masters of this Court, to Tax the Respondents their costs of this Suite, which are to be paid them out of the Charity mony in question.”

MONUMENTAL INSCRIPTIONS.

As nearly all the Inscriptions within St. Michael's Church have already been printed in full by Sir H. Chauncy in 1700 (reprinted at Bishop Stortford, 1826), Mr. Salmon in 1728, Mr. Clutterbuck in 1829, or by Mr. Cussans in 1870, I did not consider it necessary to give them in full again here, as most readers of this book will probably have access to one or more of the above mentioned County Histories. I have therefore contented myself with noting the position of the Inscriptions as they now stand in the church, giving a list of those which were formerly to be seen in the church, but which have now disappeared, and a full copy of those which appear hitherto to have escaped notice.

Nearly all the Inscriptions remain in their original positions, with the exception of those that were, previous to the restoration of the church in 1869, attached to the columns in the north and south aisles, and to the north wall of the chancel. These are now to be found upon the north and south walls and upon the south wall of the chancel. The different positions assigned to a few others may readily be seen by comparing my list (No. 1) with that of either of the above named county historians. I may here add that Mr. Cussans' account was written previous to the removal of the Inscriptions from the columns and north wall of the chancel, but I cannot understand why he omitted those given in list No. 3, unless they happened at that time to be hidden from view by the old pews.
